I have a very active parasite infection and now H Pylori infection to go along with my heavy viral load. I have a Colloidal Silver protocol specifically for H pylori I found here on cz which I will follow (and am buying Colloidal Silver until I can figure out and decide which home method I will use in the future but right now this particular situation is consuming all my mind space).

My question is about parasites and iodine. I have been taking 50mg of Iodine per day plus the boron in water thing along with added magnesium, B's (all of them), selenium 400mcg (just starting to go up to 400 from 200) and 3+ gm of c.

Is this enough to kill parasites? I will increase Iodine slowly because I can feel my body sucking in the iodine - seriously!!!!

My diet is gluten free, Sugar free, milk free (I eat some raw cheese infrequently), grass fed beef, coconut oil, doubly filtered water (I want to make sure to get out cadmium/lead/fluoride!!), eat kimchee with each meal, just started juicing 1/4 wedge of cabbage + 3 carrots before each meal, am eating raw veggies, fruits with low Sugar (granny smith apples, lemons, grapefruit), no soy, no gmo's, majority organic, free range eggs bought locally, etc. etc. Also starting glutamine, colostrum, beta glucan and monolaurin.

I have hashi's resulting in low thyroid and I listened to Dr Mark Starr say that when you are low thyroid you are basically a walking infection factory for life and need to be on dessicated thyroid forever.

I am thinking that if I can stop the onslaught of toxins, eat healthier and take some supplements, I shouldn't have to take any meds. But with all the activity with infections, I am wondering if he is right. Any advice? I have to say, by making all the changes I did in terms of diet, stopping the fluoride/bromide madness, taking supplements, I was able to get my numbers into the normal range WITHOUT MEDS!!! Woo hoo!!!! But now I look at all the infections and it makes me want to cry (I am actually weeping now as I write this because this struggle is really taking the wind out of my sails). Maybe I just need to get this all handled and for every two steps forward there might be 1 step back for a little while longer. Anyone have any advice to share on that?

I had just finished getting my body into a healthier state of being where the metals were finally being released. As soon as they were (doing highly effective simple things to get out mercury/lead/cadmium), low and behold, the parasites flourished. I am really needing to get these things OUT! I have tapes & flukes which are exiting now that I've finished a 30 day HumaWorm. I know there are many left and I do not want to stop fighting them off waiting to do the next round.

It is in my hopes the iodine (along with everything else I am doing) will help my body get into a better state where these things cannot thrive.

Is that a false sense of hope or is there something else I can be doing to get rid of these horrific things?

"parasites" is a very broad word, even includes predatory bankers. Do you mean all parasites, or only some parasites ? If only some parasites, which ones ?

If Iodine works on the banksters lets use it!

I meant specifically candida, tape worms, flukes.

Thanks!

Hi 144,

Try a unique type of silica for the parasite.

AS to the H. Pylori Iodine will destroy it and cure your ulcers.

I built up to taking over 100 milligrams of Elemental Iodine 4 or 5 times a day. It destroyed the Pylori and cured my bleeding ulcers.

thanks for that info. How long (# of days, weeks, months) did you stay at 400-500 mg? I have worked up to 60mg per day in the past few days with no problems. Am striving to hit 100 as a regular course but will certainly go higher to get rid of this situation.

Long time, T2T, glad to see you on board again.

Yes, the DE silica can help; the only problem I had with it was that it was drying to the skin and bowels. can be problematic if one are constipated as many with hypo T are.

I would definitely up the iodine.

Treatment of Burns by Tincture of Iodine

By O. F. MERCIER, M.D., Montreal

For a couple of years past, convinced (by an accidental experience) of the value of the tincture of iodine in the treatment and cure of burns, I have adopted its use systematically in my hospital service, as well as in my civil practice ; and to-day, after different experiences in a number of varying- cases, from the slightest to the most severe, I thought it would be advisable to appear here before your honorable meeting and give you my sincere opinion upon this treatment.

I have said that my first experience was an accidental one. and T should have added that this experience was obtained upon myself.

One day I had the misfortune to burn a small spot, of about three-quarters of an inch diameter, upon the palmar surface of my left hand ; this burn was of the second degree, and excessively painful. Having on hand in my office a small bottle of the 10 per cent, tincture of iodine, T covered the burn with it. Of course, the application was painful, but I felt immediately a complete relief it stopped the pain at once ; and the next morning I was so well that, having some operations to perform at the Xotre Dame Hospital, I was able to attend to my duty and operate that morning upon several cases which were on my list, and that without the least pain. I could wash, brush my hands, keep them covered with the rubber gloves for a few hours, without any inconvenience ; and the blister never burst, but dried up in two or three days, leaving under it a tissue of new formation of normal coloration and suppleness.

Judging from this result, and not knowing that this treatment had already been tested by Baumgarten in France, I started using it systematically in the Xotre Dame Hospital, having in my mind that, if it could do for a small thing, most probably it would be satisfactory in more severe cases. The result, fortunately, confirmed to the utmost my expectations, and to-day I am here in a position to tell you that I consider it to be the best treatment I ever used against this accidental disease.

As far as I can understand, the treatment was rejected in France on account of the fear that it might be injurious to the kidneys; but in all the different cases in which I have used it I have constantly watched closely the function of that organ, and in no case could I detect any trouble, clinical, functional or chemical. In fact, in one of my last cases, the patient was a young lad of about twelve years, who was certainly burnt over at least the half of the surface of his whole body, and even in that case no trouble whatever could be detected with his kidneys.

Another objection that one can raise is the pain caused by the application. I have, of course, to admit that the treatment is painful during its application and for the few minutes (say four or five) following it; but as soon as the pain so caused is over, the pain that always accompanies the burn is completely suppressed and the patient feels a complete relief. In one case, to which I would like to draw your attention, a woman, of about forty years old, having had her two arms, forearms and hands badly burned to the second degree, and, in some spots, going as far as the third degree, I tried treating her on one arm with anti septic and anaesthetic ointment, and on the other one with the tincture of iodine, and she herself asked to have both arms treated with the iodine, feeling so much difference in the comfort caused by the above treatment compared with the ordinary antiseptic applications.

At about the same time a man was brought into the hospital, ward St. Joseph, with a bad burn covering the surface of his face and head, neck and shoulders, hands and wrists. In this case I started the iodine treatment immediately after his entry in the hospital. The temperature, which went high from the start (104 degrees), was brought down to the normal in four days. Eight days after the accident the crust formed by the burn, epidermis hardened by the fluid, started to fall off, and fourteen days after the accident he was able to leave the hospital, completely cured, with a fine pink, supple, new skin, replacing all the one that was destroyed by the burn.

I have had since then three other cases of the same seriousness, location and surface, and the three responded faithfully to my treatment and developed and recovered in the same way. In fact, in the Xotre

Dame Hospital, the treatment demonstrated so well its own value that it has been adopted by all my confreres of the hospital, and it is now systematically used there.

I think that, in our day, it would be very hard to find a surgeon, a medical doctor, or any scientific man. who would not admit that iodine is one of our best antiseptics, if not the very best of all. Its power of penetration into the skin, its power of destruction of the germs, are the two qualities which place it at the head of the list. Another advantage of it is that, if you want to have all its effectiveness and if you use it on the skin, you can apply it just as well and better on a skin that has not been previously washed, because the alcohol in which the drug is dissolved is quite sufficient for the cleaning, and would have a better effect on a dry or greasy skin than on a skin covered with soap and water.

The same problem presents itself in the treatment of burns. Every body knows how painful, difficult and long was the first dressing in all the other treatments made upon the burnt surface.

The cleaning of the wound, the removing of dirt, burnt epidermis, and so on. was practically impossible, not only from the fact of its own difficulty, but also from the fact of the pain occasioned by that long and tedious manipulation. With this new treatment there is nothing of that sort; the dressing is so simple, so quick, that in a few minutes it can be made with -all its effectiveness. Of course. I observed that, to use this treatment, one must follow a very precise and systematic technique, because one has to remember that the application is painful, and that the pain caused by that application will only last a few seconds, and that, besides, the application must be liberally made, so I remarked that the tincture of Iodine must be largely spread over all the wound, I would say, in one jet. The way to do it is very simple. Take a piece of absorbent cotton, soak it heavily in the tincture, holding it with a forceps, and put on a coat of it, liberally, all over the wound. If the patient is too nervous and too sensitive, give him first a hypodermic injection of morphine, or even it may be worth while giving him gas-anesthesia. The worst would be if. being afraid of hurting him, you should make the application lightly, gently, with a tampon not sufficiently soaked with the preparation, and apply it spot by spot, small surface by small surface, increasing so, the time required for dressing, and instead of taking just a few seconds, or, at the most, two or three minutes, to complete the whole thing, you would take, say, fifteen or twenty minutes, and then have a wound that would not be properly covered and soaked with the fluid. I insist upon this point because, every time I entrusted the treatment to the hands of one of our nurses or sisters, they all made the same error, and I had to insist, in order to convince them, and even, at times, do it myself before them.

Another very important point is the quality and strength of the preparation. I observed that the best is the one of the French Iodex. or the 10 per cent, solution in pure alcohol, 90 degrees." The alcohol must be very pure, and everybody will easily understand that it would be very dangerous to use tincture of iodine prepared with methylated spirit, or the one that we have on the market under the name of "Columbian." This latter would not only irritate and injure the tissue, but would be dangerous by its absorption, and that to the utmost.

You will most probably enquire what sort of dressing is to be applied after the coat of tincture of iodine has been spread over the wound. A simple sterile dressing with gauze compresses, and a bandage to keep it on, is quite sufficient. In fact, I have remarked that the solution is a dressing in itself, and in a few cases I ventured to use no dressing at all, besides the liquid application, and kept the part open. The explanation is very simple : the wound, after the application, covers itself with a thick, brown crust, which protects the raw tissues completely.

A very interesting experience, which contributes to the illustration of the effectiveness of the treatment, is the fact that, in cases of burns of the face, I could not, of course, apply it on the eye-lids, fearing to injure the globe of the eye, and I confined myself to using around there a preparation of argyrol or sylvol, but in every case the whole face was already healed many days, while the eyelids were still unhealed ; and the worst of it was that the eyelids healed slowly, giving rise to ectropion. The treatment must be done once every day.

As I said above, when the above-mentioned crusts fall, they give way to a fine new tissue, pink, neat, having all its suppleness, and in no case had I any of those retractile scars which, ordinarily, as everybody knows, are one of the worst complications following burns. I have no doubt that the worst enemy is the infection, not only because it delays the cure, but also because it causes the pain, causes the general infection, which generally shows itself by the regular and steady increase of temperature, loss of appetite, weakness, and so on ; and then gives way to the formation of that scar tissue, which in mostly all cases is bound to retract sooner or later. With this new treatment, nothing of the sort. After a few days, four or five, the temperature comes down to normal, and this gradually and steadily, and stays at normal until the complete cure is over. The patient keeps his normal general condition of health ; he sleeps very well at night, because the pain, which exists in every case treated by the other methods, is absent ; in fact, the only pain is the one during the application, and it is easy to manage it ; but as for the pain of the burn itself, there is none whatever.

The treatment, to have all its effectiveness, must be made as soon as possible following the accident. It is easy to understand that it is more difficult to disinfect an infected wound than to prevent the infection. This is a fact that I have always experienced, and I consider it to be of the highest importance.

If the method is used on burns of the first and second degree, it is a complete treatment, and you do not need anything else ; but, as everybody knows, there may always be spots or surfaces where the burn would have gone more deeply and attained the third degree, injuring the whole thickness of the skin, and sometimes the adipose tissue, and even the muscles. For those deep burns I apply, just the same, the tincture of iodine in the same way as I do for the surrounding surfaces ; but, of course, after a certain time, the destroyed parts, which have been killed by the fire, must detach themselves, and this surface of sphacelus leaves a wound more or less large, which has to be treated by the ordinary antiseptic dressings. To complete the cure and prevent the retractile scars, now is the time to appeal to grafting of new skin. This is what I do, using the Thiersch method.

In cases where the surface of the burn is covered by blisters, it is important not to open them, and to let them dry up under the effect of the iodine. They dry up in a few days, and do not bring any complication whatever.

In a few cases, when the patient was too sensitive, or when, for any other reason, the pain was too great, I replaced the tincture of iodine by the vapors of nascent iodine ; but, of course, in every one of the cases the first treatment was always made by using the tincture of iodine, in the way above described, and I used the nascent iodine only for the

sequent treatments, which must be applied then once a day, as in the case of the tincture.

I feel so highly convinced of the great and practical value of this treatment, that, in coming before your meeting, I come with only one object in view, which is that of trying to popularize the method, knowing that it will be such a great help to this class of poor patients. When one imagines or represents to himself the pain, the dangers of all sorts, that followed these terrible accidents when we were using most of the other treatments, it is easy to understand the amount of the services that would be rendered to our poor humanity if it were possible to decrease, in any degree, the said calamity. There is another question, which has in itself its own importance, and this interests mostly companies and employers. We all know the amount of responsibility that falls upon them under the law providing for indemnity to be given to employees in these cases. If, by this method, it were possible to diminish the amount of incapacity resulting from the accident, I think it would save them certainly large amounts of money, and it would, at the same time, prevent the employee from remaining a lame man for the rest of his life.

I would like to see all the manufacturers, and even the fire brigades, knowing this fact, and knowing also that the best thing they can do for any one of their employees, who should have the misfortune of having one of these terrible accidents, would be to have on hand a bottle of tincture of iodine, ready to be used as the first, the best of all emergency treatments, that could be applied to the case.

Only a few weeks ago a case was brought to the hospital a man, a laborer, burnt in the face, neck and head by an explosion of gasoline.

I do not know whether it was from the fact that they had heard of the treatment that they did it ; but they did it, at any rate. The patient sent to the hospital had only to be continuously treated along the same lines, and following the rules. In two weeks he was in a condition to resume his work.

Whether it be for a small or a large burn, I insist that I consider this treatment to be the best. About two months ago a child of twelve years old was brought to me, as a private patient, after a burn covering certainly over half the surface of his body. I saw him in hospital only the next day after the burn, and some ointment (I do not know what kind) had already been used on it. Nevertheless, I ordered the iodine treatment. The poor little thing went on as well as possible for seven or eight days ; the only pain endured was the one at the moment of the applications. Unfortunately, I had the parents against my treatment, and I was obliged to submit to their desire. After two or three days the parents realized what I had told them : that the dressings were nearly as painful as the iodine dressing, but that these dressings were not quieting the pain of the burn. The temperature started going higher ; the general condition of patient got worse and worse every day; and on the eleventh day the final result that I was expecting came, and the poor boy died.

Although at least half of the surface of the body was burnt, I feel convinced that if I could have kept on with the iodine treatment I would have saved his life. But one fact remains, with all its importance : urine analysis, and taking the quantity of urine, was done every day during the applications, and I could not notice any clinical symptoms of kidney alterations, neither by the clinical symptoms nor by the laboratory reports.

Since the antiseptic value of iodine has been discovered and admitted by the profession in general, this chemical product has rendered us all sorts of services. We use it for disinfecting the skin before operations ; we use it for disinfecting some surgical wounds ; we treat the wounds with it, and everybody admits that its value is of the ut most importance. This is another application in which I sincerely believe it is going to prove again that it is the most important, the most powerful, and the most harmless of all antiseptics.

500mg of elemental/day???!!!
Wow, you are challenging my thinking.....

I did 400mg Iodoral/day for one week last week and I thought that was pushing the elemental....hmmmmm

Can I ask what inspired you to take that much elemental?
Any intense detox?

did you make your own?

were you just taking elemental or KI also?

sorry so many questions, but my experience last week taking so much Iodoral was really good....so it got me wondering again about my own ceiling
I think it was keeping some parasite/yeastie at bay and I could feel better.... it seemed to be better taking it all at once than separately also.
